Hi there!

If you reach this page, I believe, you are really interested to see the members virtually.

Rather than that, why don't you come to our Toastmasters meeting and meet us personally :-)

The meeting will be fruitful for you, if you come with similar expectations as mine:

- training public speaking skill in a conducive atmosphere
- having opportunity to practice english regularly
- getting abundant valuable feedback from other members on how to could improve the speech
- in return, also learning how to give a constructive feedback for others
- enlarge the information spectrum, since TM members have different background, that influences their speech content
- having a mentor, that guides and encourages you through the first speeches
- learning the skill from the advance members, and learning to believe, that one day you would become like them too
- meeting friendly and open-minded people

Cheers,
Mariana
